Tips on Setting Up and Using Your Success Tips

Setting Up Your Success Tips

If you would like to automate your marketing, you can set up your success tips to be automatically sent to your list on a regular basis by pre-loading them into your database management system. Most database management software systems have the capability of sending automated or timed emails so that you load them once, schedule their delivery and leave them alone. Examples of the more popular email management systems are AWeber (www.aweber.com), Constant Contact (www.constantcontact.com), iContact (www.icontact.com), and 1ShoppingCart (1shoppingcart.com), Infusionsoft (Infusionsoft.com) or Ontraport (Ontraport.com). You can research these to determine which solution is a best fit for your business needs.

For blog posts, you can simply preload your blogs and schedule in advances the days you want them to post.

As always, we recommend that you customize these success tips with your own stories, anecdotes and personal messages. But keep them short as that is what makes this tool so effective!

Using Your Success Tips

Staying in touch with your list in a meaningful way is the key to creating relationships, developing trust and familiarity, and ultimately converting your prospects into clients. Using a numerous tools and delivering them through a variety of mediums allows you to be creative in your marketing which is more attractive to your prospects and clients.

Success Tips are a fantastic tool to use because they are short, provide great value, and can be delivered in written, audio or video form.

We recommend using your Success Tips in conjunction with the Ready2Go product bundle (<http://www.Ready2GoMarketingSolutions.com>) as the products coordinate together.

Here's a few ways you can use your Ready2Go Tips:

- Blog posts
- A "Thought of the Week" or "Success Tip of the Week", that provides value, is easy to read, and is a meaningful touch.
- A short article in your newsletter
- Can be recorded and emailed in audio form, placed on your blog, on your website or sent in your newsletter.
- Can be developed into a short video training and be emailed to your list, placed on your blog, on your website, or sent in your newsletter.

The Time Challenge Success Tips

(This is one of 12 success tips that comes in the package)

It's Time to Drop the Perfectionism

Do you hold yourself to high standards for everything? If so, you're not alone. Most gifted people strive for perfection.

But what if inflexible standards are slowing you down and holding you back?

There's evidence that constant perfectionism can get in the way of a happy and productive life. It's connected to procrastination, low productivity, and depression.

More often than not, continual high standards aren't needed for us to succeed in life. Think about people like Einstein, Oprah, Donald Trump, Walt Disney and Bill Gates. These famously accomplished people have reported that they owe their achievements to their unstoppable nature and willingness to make mistakes.

The trick is to recognize when high standards are necessary and when they actually get in the way of innovation, efficiency and fulfillment. Getting to the place of good enough on most tasks and projects allows us to get more done without compromising quality. This open minded approach allows for creativity, innovation and fun.

Freedom from perfection starts with flexibility, compassion and faith in self. Remember that you are good enough as you are. You are intrinsically valuable.

The next time you notice that you're driving yourself hard, procrastinating on projects or tasks, or feeling self critical about your accomplishments, ask yourself:

“Am I holding myself to standards that aren't needed in these circumstances?”

“What would good enough look and feel like?”

Breathe. Open up your heart and mind. Think flexibly about your project or task and let your standards relax. Try the “good enough approach” for your day to day tasks and reserve your high standards for rare and special circumstances. You'll not only get more done, you'll also feel motivated to do more!
